

THE FUTURE OF THE PEOPLES PARTY.

The People's party and the Silver party agree upon what very many people in the West and South, including some Republicans and Democrats, admit is the supreme political issue. This issue is the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. The Rocky Mountain News, the ablest People's party paper published, says on this subject:

"If the People's party is to become an effective instrument in restoring the normal influence of our producing population in the government its aims must be restricted to the present requirements of industrial relief. It was a mistake to go before the country with an imposing schedule of proposed reforms, every one of which, however meritorious, called for a prolonged campaign of education. That policy has never led a new political party to victory. The People's party is mainly indebted for what popular favor it has won to its position on silver and finance. While there is much to learn on these questions, they are better understood by the masses of voters because of their bearing on prices, wages and living, than any of the other reforms suggested in the Omaha platform.

"Besides a simplified platform, there should be an unqualified declaration of allegiance to the laws of the land and recognition of the ballot as the only valid medium of redress from the consequences of unjust laws, or laws that are believed to be unjust. In the popular estimation, law breakers in this country belong with the criminal classes and that fact is in itself a strong guarantee of the endurance of our government.

"Monetary reform, based on the free coinage of gold and silver, with a supply of currency gauged by the needs of progressive business, to be issued exclusively by the General Government—said reforms to be effected by strictly constitutional methods—would be platform enough.

MARKS ON A BALLOT.

The Supreme Court of Michigan has handed down the most important decision affecting the present method of voting that has ever been made. On the question of what constitutes a distinguishing mark on a ballot, which mark is prohibited by law, the Court unanimously holds that whatever mark other than the single one appropriated to designate the intention of a voter, is a distinguishing mark.

The case was brought in the contesting of the rights of office of two local candidates at Bay City, who were ostensibly elected at a Spring election a year and a half ago. By the decision both are ousted from office. The result of this decision will be far reaching.

The Court holds that if two tickets on an official ballot are identical the marking of a cross over each is illegal; also to mark a cross over any ticket, and then before each name on such ticket, or place a cross before the name of a candidate and then erase the name of his opponent on another ticket, is illegal.

In substance, the opinion holds that a single mark is a vote and is sufficient to indicate the voters intention, and that a second mark might be agreed upon as a means of identification. It has been the practice of election inspectors to count all such doubly marked ballots, so that under this decision any of the elections held under the Australian voting system may, it is believed, be contested.

TAXING ESTATES.

It frequently happens that the death of a wealthy man reveals the fact that his estate proves to be worth several hundred thousand dollars, while during his life he only paid taxes on, say ten thousand. It would be an excellent idea for the coming Legislature to pass a law enabling the taxes which a wealthy man has

With such a law a wealthy man would realize that a final settlement was inevitable and something from which there could be no escape. It would result in a little closer attention to the facts when dealing with an assessor.
